CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

District No. 20

PUEBLO, COLORADO

1935

Foreword

THE Boston Latin school, whose tercentenary all America is celebrating this spring, was a mere 250 years old when the first group of young Westerners received the first diplomas to be given by Central high school. Water passes quickly under the bridge, and while high schools throughout the country celebrate the founding of the American public school, the great student body that is now Central views with sentiment the growth of its own particular group.

The Golden anniversary edition of the Wildcat offers homage not only to the far seeing men of Massachusetts who decreed that wherever a few should gather education should be offered but also to those who carried the torch into the West, who were so imbued with the principle that democracy and education should go hand in hand that they were responsible for setting up the foundation of what today is District Number 20.

DR. CORWIN BEGINS SERVICE

One of the first school directors was Dr. Richard W. Corwin, who watched Central's progress as a member of District Number 20's educational committee. He served from 1892 until his death in 1929. Both W. L. Graham and Dr. A. L. Fugard were prominent patrons in the district and were members of the school board 29 and 26 years respectively.

During the years 1883 to 1896 the administration of the district changed many times. Mr. F. G. Gault relinquished the position of school superintendent in 1888 which he had held since 1883. P. W. Search, who later distinguished himself as an educator of nation-wide importance, succeeded Mr. Gault. P. W. Search acted as superintendent from 1888 to 1894. Superintendent Search left in 1894, and Mr. H. E. Robbins took his place, acting in this capacity until 1896.

MR. KEATING COMES IN 1896

Dr. J. F. Keating, present superintendent of District No. 20, came in 1896. In 1900 Miss Izora Scott came to school as principal. In 1903 Mr. H. M. Barrett took over the duties of principal. The next year we find evidence of scholastic competition, for the Corwin Oration and Keating Essay contests were held.

1904 was a period of growth for the south side high school. The enrollment had increased to such an extent that the seventh grade was moved to a new building. Students came to school at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. From 12 to 12:30 was lunch period. The day was divided into six 45 minute periods. Three minutes between each period was allowed for passing. Each morning except Wednesday, the pupils had a 15-minute chapel period.

1906—EAST WING COMPLETED

1918—WAR CADETS OF CENTRAL

Continuing new additions in the year 1904, freshmen were required to take history, algebra, English, and an elective foreign language. A class in millinery was offered to the girls. The printing room was enlarged, and the number of lockers in the chemistry room increased. A new fire escape was added to the gymnasium. The athletic field was at that time located at Lake and Pitkin avenues.

NEW BUILDING ERECTED

Meantime the high school was rapidly outgrowing its building, and in 1906 hammers could be heard, busily erecting the east wing of the new building which was to accommodate the 420 students enrolled in school. The 1907 class was the last class to graduate from "old Central." The south side high school was in the first, named Central high school; however, in 1907 it was officially changed to Pueblo high school, District Number 20. In 1908 the name was changed back to Central high school—and has remained so ever since.

As the enrollment grew, wings were added to the present east section, and at last in 1912, the new Central high school stood fully complete. Proudly the first class in 1914 marched down the aisles of their first auditorium. In the early morning on February 28, 1917, Puebloans gathered about to see their new fireproof building go up in flames. Reconstruction began immediately, and students continued to go to school in 1918.

Once again the administration of Central changed, and Mr. Barrett's vacated principal's chair went to Mr. D. K. Dunton. Along with the veterans of the school board, Mr. Horace Wheeler took his place in 1910. He remained on the board of education for 18 years. Frank E. Parks, another prominent member of the board of education was elected in 1917; he retired in the spring of 1935. The next year Mabel S. Mirick, a member of the 1886 class and a first graduate of Central high school, was elected to the board; she has remained an active member ever since. Mr. Frank J. Burch, another active member of long standing, was elected to the board in 1921; he remained 12 years.

FACULTY GROWS

To meet the increased enrollment and needs of a larger student body, the faculty had grown. By 1916 there were 23 teachers in Central; 37 men and women were on the faculty list by 1924. In 1925 seven new members were added, and the group has grown until there are now 59 teachers on Central's faculty.

At the beginning of 1925, in January, Principal Dunton died. Lemuel Pitts, then history instructor and athletic director, succeeded him. Mr. Pitts is still acting as principal.

At various times Central's social customs were started. Societies for debating, for literary aspirants, and for various language clubs were formed. In 1909 the girls first put on Martha Washington frocks, and the boys put on knee breeches and powdered their hair. In 1914 one spring morning the seniors failed to appear; they had gone on a picnic—thus senior sneak day, a regular spring function, was instituted.

STUDENT COUNCIL BEGINS

Various student organizations for the government of the pupils were conceived and organized. The student council, however, which is functioning now, was founded in 1922. This council insures student representation from all the classes.

Principal 1912-1925

So through the fifty years Central has matured from a struggling pioneer school to a great educational institution. From the one millinery class in 1904 has grown the large domestic science department now running. This department offers instruction in clothing, home making and cooking.

For the great number of students who desire industrial training for future employment, Central's greatly enlarged and improved industrial arts department has been created. Ample opportunity can be had to learn about various types of mechanical, wood, and electrical work in the department that developed from the first sloid class in 1889.

To its purely academic course Central has added classes in art, vocal and instrumental music instruction, classes in gym, hygiene, and journalism. To govern the courses of the students and determine a specific field for a pupil the major and minor system was instituted in 1933. Thus through the various courses and careful administration, graduates of Central high school are well prepared high school students.

Alumni returning to Central see many familiar faces of their teachers who are still on the faculty. There are nine instructors who have been here more than 25 years. J. F. Keating, superintendent, has been on the administrative board of District No. 20 since 1896.

Lida Bell, now study hall supervisor, but former mathematics teacher, has been here thirty years. Other faculty members who have taught in Central's hall more than 25 years are F. C. Kay, commercial department; Sara Mulnix, domestic science; Jesse Donohue, English; Tanetta Gilleland, Latin; Mary C. McNally, social science; and Lemuel Pitts, principal. Mr. Pitts came to Central in January, 1907.

A large number of faculty members have graduated from Central. Sara Mulnix is the oldest graduate on the faculty. Richard Beatty is the youngest alumni; he graduated in 1926. Other alumni on the faculty are Hazel Anderson, Laurence Carlson, Earl Cowley, Jessie Donohue, John Dunlap, Hulda Forsman, Stella Grout, Nelle Haworth, Ruth Kent, Clarice Lamb, Mary McNally, Sara Mulnix, Hazel Read, Dorothy Sprengle, James C. Stratton, John Teck, Anna Lee Tomsick, Grace Wilson, and Olga Mayo, and Margaret Evans of the office force.

The Central Student Council

In 1923 the present student government was organized; it was called the student council. The aim is to do everything possible for the betterment of Central. The first student president was Diehl Redmond. From 1923 to 1925 the student council was concerned chiefly with getting organized; in 1925 the constitution was finished and adopted.

In 1926 the council set out a code of traffic rules for Central, and in 1932 the elaborate point system for the Booster club was worked out.

This year marks a milestone for the student council for the admirable work it has performed. It revived the vaudeville, sponsored a contest to raise money for the community chest, attended several conferences, and instigated a boys' declamation contest and a reading contest for the girls to revive interest in the societies.

The Central Class Officers

Historically it has been the custom at Central that each class select its leaders. These class officers receive their positions in the fall elections of each year. They are to guide intelligently the various classes under their jurisdiction throughout the many class problems that arise each year.

However, the burden of administering the four classes does not rest entirely on the officers. With assistance of the students themselves, the roll room representatives, the council sponsors, and the class sponsors, the four classes are governed.

The responsibilities and duties placed upon these officers have been well met by them, and judging solely by the result, the desired effects have been obtained.

Classes

Mrs. Mabel S. Mirick, Charles McVey, Harlan Smith

Central's First Class

The graduating class of 1886 was the first class to graduate from Central high school. This class was composed of nine students, all of whom are now living except one.

Members of this class are Grace Guernsey who now lives at North Bend, Oregon; Clara McCann-Cummings now residing in Denver, Colorado; Alice MacDonald, principal of Bessemer school in Pueblo, Colorado; Charles McVey, retired admiral of the United States navy.

Harlan Smith, cashier of the First National bank in Pueblo, Colorado; Mabel Stonaker of Pueblo, Colorado, who later married Judge Mirick; Nannie Walker, retired school teacher now living in Pueblo, Colorado; Frank Young who cannot be traced; and Ralph Jones who died the summer after graduating.

May all the graduating classes of Central be as promising and assuring as the class of 1886.

JUNIORS

The Junior Class

ONE of the leading productions of the school year was the play "The Youngest" presented by the junior class. This play was written by Philip Barry, one of America's foremost playwrights. Those juniors who filled the cast were Clarence Burns, Constance Sears, Walter Mack, Joan Kendrick, William Maddock, Maxine Goss, Robert Langdon, Dorothy Schmidt, and Billie Scott.

The candidate for queen whom the junior class backed won the queen contest by a large majority of votes. They received first prize for the best class float in the annual Homecoming parade. The juniors also gave a generous donation to the Community chest.

For ability in American history Robert Langdon won the prize of five dollars given by the Daughters of the American Revolution. This class was well represented in the field of literature by Marion Broskey who won the annual essay contest and received ten volumes of Shakespeare for the Keating prize. Her essay was entitled "Why Think?"

Many juniors received their letters for football and basketball. Football letters were received by Bishard, Alberico, Jacket, Jenkins, Jerman, Juliano, Penza, Radakovich, Stubler, and Gordon. Those receiving them for basketball are Radakovich, Lalich, and Jacket.

Officers for the junior class were Billy Lovette, president; Martha Huling, vice-president; Maxine Goss, secretary; Walter Mack, treasurer; and Al Hayden, sergeant-at-arms.

Junior councillors for the year were V. P. Atkinson, Stella Grout, Achsah Hardin, Laurence Carlson, B. S. Tedmon, Mary C. McNally, F. C. Kay, and Blanche Taylor.

As the juniors complete the eleventh year of school life they heave a sigh of relief to think that there is only one more year to toil on elementary learning. They should be happy they are not graduating this year, because, as they will realize a few months after graduating, the first years of life in school are the most enjoyable and profitable.

Juniors seem to be an awfully jealous group of students, or maybe it is just aggressiveness. In assembly they try to drown out the speaker or entertainer by talking during the whole program, which is not their privilege; that is for the seniors to do. However, they may criticize the seniors with all the skill afforded them as they know that it will be but a few more months until they are seniors and will be unable to have upper classmen to tell what is or is not wrong with their class.

Another hardship visited upon these luckless souls is the fact that they do not have enough roll rooms to go around; hence they are sifted in with various sophomores. Many will find their photos scattered about in the class of '37 section. They will curse the annual staff, but there they are, and due notice has been made.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore Class

With the sophomore year the student has climbed one more step up the ladder of education. Members of the class have passed the awkward freshman stage, but are still classed as babies by the sophisticated seniors. In this class the fascinating life of societies and clubs is opened to the students that they may participate.

Members of this class have offered a wealth of material in all the sports of Central. Football and basketball letters have been received by a large number considering the length of time they have been in high school. E. Egan, Scoleri, Shoaf, and Skube received letters for their football ability: a basketball letter was given to O'Roark.

Clubs and Societies

Club History Begins at Central Back in 1907

IN 1907 the first society at Central was founded by George Roe with members of the American history class as charter members. This group, the Ciceronean debating society, took as their motto "Eloquentia Mundum Regit," and orange and black as their colors. Three years later Lemuel Pitts founded the Olympic society for the purpose of furthering and stimulating debating and public speaking. This society took red and black as their colors and held debates and other contests with the Ciceroneans. In 1921 Miss Lida Bell organized the Forum debating society in order to assist in socializing young people and to further debating, thus making the annual debate a three-cornered contest. The Agora is a comparatively young society as it was formed in 1930 by Mr. Eugene Lyle. This society's colors are blue and gold; its purpose is to promote interest in debating and to give an understanding of current questions.

The Owl debating society, oldest girls' society in Central, was founded in 1910 by Miss Annie K. Keightly. This society held debates with the Ciceroneans until the inter-society debate contest was founded. The purpose of this society is to further interest in debating and literature; the colors are yellow and white. Miss Edith Wilson organized the Aletheorian literary society in 1915 to promote musical talent and to study literature. Green and white were the colors selected. Six years later the Clionian literary society was founded by Miss Mary McNally to promote the art of public speaking and develop the ability to conduct meetings along parliamentary lines. Clionian colors are orchid and silver. Miss McNally also formed the Athenian debating society in 1928 for the purpose of promoting good fellowship and to study literature and debating. The Athenians selected silver and crimson as their colors. In order to further literary appreciation, public speaking, and social relationship, Miss Violet Fuller founded the Sigma debating society in 1930 with colors of rose and gold. The motto of the Sigma is "Build for character, not for fame."

Clubs at Central have experienced a decrease in numbers during the last few years. The remaining clubs are among the oldest with set standards and definite objectives. The Catsclan, which has been reorganized this year, was originally founded for the purpose of inspiring students to higher achievement and to back all school projects. Miss Achsah Hardin and Mr. John Dunlap organized this group in 1931. Mr. Glen Hoskins was the first sponsor of the Central Hi-Y club, which was first known as the Central B's. This group became affiliated with the Y. M. C. A. and took as their motto "Others." The Masalta Girl Reserves was founded in 1917. The purpose of this group is to improve themselves, to boost a better Central high school, to be friendly everywhere, to live harmoniously. In 1924 the girls at Central who had letters formed the Girls' athletic association. Since then this club has participated in many contests and has done much to live up to their motto, "To sponsor sports for sport's sake." Through interest in Roman history and Latin literature a club composed of freshman Latin students was organized by Miss Gilleland. Later a larger club was formed including upperclassmen sponsored by Miss Lois Hull. This group has as its motto "We are human and all things human interest us." Mrs. Mary McIntyre founded El Circulo Hispanico in 1927 for the furtherance of interest in the Spanish language and customs. Red and yellow are the Spanish club colors.

Middle Row—Lewis, Seelye, Stuart, Freeman, Roblek, McDonald, Luppino.
Bottom Row—Pittman, DeBevc, Hughes, Goss, Abell, Kilfoy.

The Catsclan was reorganized this year. The old system of selecting members by the number of activity points was abandoned, and the members were elected from the various roll rooms. This change was made in order to provide a little more representative group. The new system has worked very successfully in the past year as is shown by the activities entered into. This plan will probably be a permanent one and in very few years prove to be highly successful.

The officers this year were chosen to serve for both semesters. James Rennie was elected to the position of president, and Maxine Goss served as vice-president. Ruth Kochenberger was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Earl Johnson reporter. Miss Bula Leddy, Miss Hulda Forsman and Mr. John Teck were the faculty committee in charge. Chief among sponsored activities were Homecoming day, Recognition day.

Activities

Extra Curricular Program Provides Wealth of Aims for Centralites

CENTRAL high school boasts many extra curricular activities. The average viewpoint on the program of gaining knowledge outside of books has led many students to lose faith in school movement. Our high school organizations have proven themselves worthy of support.

To promote good will, good fellowship, good citizenship, and to study literature or debating are the purposes of most of Central's societies. These societies are optional with the student and are therefore extra curricular.

Clubs have different aims, each beneficial to its members, in a different way. Some clubs further interest in some specific subject for intellectual purposes. Some add pep, enthusiasm, and friendly feeling to the school. A few attempt to help the student to live a clean life; to have clean speech, and clean scholarship. Their events this year included the Vodevil, for the benefit of the council. Pay assemblies for Recognition day banquet and Inter-Scholastic debate expenses were sponsored by others.

The Central High Times and the yearbook are the main projects of the publications department. With the help of the print shop, the Times is published every three weeks for the students.

Music at Central is one of the oldest and largest curricular activities. Although credit is given in this field, the course is an elective study. Included there is the boys' band, one of the largest in the state. Its zest adds pep and enthusiasm to pep meetings and athletics. The girls' band, organized this year in place of the second band, presented many assembly concerts and added to the boys' band at all games. The orchestra attends all evening performances furnishing the music for all dramatic settings. The annual band show is presented by this group.

Many activities are sponsored by the classes including the Christmas pageant, Junior play, and Senior play. The freshman class was given a freshman mixer by the student council to acquaint themselves better with one another. The Christmas pageant was also sponsored by the freshmen.

The junior class this year presented its play, the second to be given in the last two years. The senior class sponsored many activities the largest of which was its annual class play.

Athletics at Central are more diversified here than at many conference schools. Football rates first in the sports program with basketball running it a close second. Track, tennis, and golf are minor sports.

Activities in general have not lost their general scope or enthusiasm at Central, and students have completed a most successful year.

CHAMPS

Past Teams Have Brought Many Laurels to Central Trophy Hall

Athletics did not hold an important role in the school life of Central prior to 1920 when the South Central league was organized, but since then Central has produced many championship teams. The Blue and White have won the league title in football during the years 1925-26-28-31; in basketball 1923-26-31-35, and held sway over the league for five years, 1924-28, in track.

La Junta proved to be the stumbling block for the Wildcat teams of 1925-26 in their quest for the state title when the Tigers defeated Central 13-10 and 12-7. Dutch Clark ran 85 yards for Central's only score in the second La Junta game. Other members of the team were Batie, Wilson, Rinker, Douglass, Williams, Captain Berry, Prince, G. Faulkenstein, Loeffler, Lohmiller, Perkins. Clark and Berry received positions on the all-state team of 1926.

Central's only state football title under organized play was won in 1928, the first since 1898. They defeated Fort Collins 40-0 before three thousand local fans. Captain Kerr, Kasic, Donahue, Peate, Higgins, Stillman, Drain, Skube, Weidman were the outstanding players of the game.

The 1931 team swept thru all opposition in the South Central league only to be crushed by Fort Collins, 69-0.

Wildcat quintets have brought more recognition to the school than did the football teams by winning the state title in 1926 and 1931. The 1926 squad gained nation-wide fame when they journed to Chicago to place fourth in the National High School Basketball tourney. Captain Finnell, Burman, Perkins, R. Carlson, L. Carlson, Clark, Rinker and White made the trip. Clark was selected as All-American center.

In 1923 Central's basketball quintet was nosed out of the state title by Windsor losing 28-25 after they had beaten them 33-32 in an earlier round of play. Joe Hughes placed on the first all-state team while Ernie Simpson, who was elected captain, and John Badavinic placed on the second team.

In 1931 Central's basketball team won the South Central league title and advanced through the divisional and state tourney strife to win the state championship. The team members were Kasic, Higgins, Morehart, Porath, Weidman, and Drain. Kasic obtained a berth on the all-state team.

The Wildcats have put out some wonderful track teams since 1922 when they met another school for the first time in history. Outstanding among the past trackmen of Central are Allott, Badovinic, Clark, Douglas, McGinnis, Krutak, A. Mihalic, Prince, Finnell.

Members of the Wildcat football teams who received the honor of leading their squads are Julius Wagner, 1922; Ray McCrillis, 1923; Glen Davis, 1924; Keith Roper, 1925; Joe Berry, 1926; Earl Clark, 1927; Max Hinshaw, 1928; Virgil Kerr, 1929; John Mihalic, 1930; Vernon Drain, 1931; Sam Mulay, 1932; Andrew Mihalic, 1933; Anthony Faulkenstein, 1934; and Nick Stubler, 1935.

Although the Wildcat gridsters failed to win a South Central league football game for the third consecutive year, a wealth of experienced material which includes fifteen lettermen indicates that the season was beneficial in developing for next season's squad if not a success in winning games.

The Wildcats finished the season looking like an experienced and entirely new team than that which answered the first call for the pigskin sport.

Conceded little chance to win their encounter opposite the Centennial Bulldogs because of their disasterous league campaign, the Blue and White won a moral victory by holding their Northside rivals to a 7-6 score in the game deciding the city championship.

Central revised its coaching staff this season obtaining Art Gray of Colorado college as head coach and Marion Brownlee as assistant. The entire football squad was well pleased with the new coaching staff. Both mentors and players worked hard and enthusiastically to turn out a winning team but injuries and inexperienced material prevented them from accomplishing their aim. However, material available for next season's crew inspires hope that the Wildcats will gain the prestige that once was theirs on the gridiron. Of twenty-three receiving their letters only eight will be graduated: these are Miller, H. Egan, Humphries, Colistro, Chandler, Falletta and Okicich.

In order to have experienced reserve material at his disposal Coach Gray began a freshman football squad. The yearlings played several practice contests with valley teams. The plan will continue next season with this year's group ready to fill the outgoing members of this year's graduating group of the first team.

Nick Stubler was re-elected captain for next season making it two years in succession that he will hold this position. It is the first time since 1927 that a player has been elected to the captaincy twice.

Numerous improvements on the athletic field have taken place during the year. Grandstand seats and the scoreboard were repaired; a new ticket office and press box were also constructed, and plans are being organized to put in a sod field in time to be used for the oncoming season.

Basketball 1935

Central's Wildcat cagers climaxed a brilliant playing season by winning the South Central league basketball championship and advancing to fourth place in the state meet at Denver.

From the outset of the season the Blue and White hoopsters were the dark horses of the conference. Fourteen returning lettermen made them potential favorites to stop the Colorado Springs Terrors from taking their fourth consecutive league title.

The Cats opened the season against the Terrors and suffered a setback when they were defeated on the Springs court by a score of 31 to 20.

Central rallied from its initial loss to win the next two contests opposite their rivals the Centennial Bulldogs and the Salida Spartans.

Colorado Springs further dimmed the Wildcats chances as they administered a second defeat to them on the Cats' floor, the game ending 35 to 19 and placed the Erpsmen in a position to clinch the title.

Canon City sprung an upset by beating the Terrors on the Tigers' floor, and Centennial duplicated the feat to put the Canonites in the lead.

Central began to hit the hoop consistently for the first time during the season and thus beat the Tigers both on their own court and on the following night on the Wildcats' floor by the respective scores of 30 to 26 and 21 to 18. This threw the title race into a three-way tie involving Canon City, Colorado Springs and Central.

Central again proved its right to the conference crown by handing their northside rivals, the Bulldogs, their second defeat, winning by a score of 21 to 19, this time on the Centennial court.

Colorado Springs duplicated the feat by winning the second encounter from the Bengals of Canon. This placed the Wildcats and Terrors in a tie for first position with a standing of six victories and two losses apiece.

On the play-off between the squads staged at the Springs' auditorium the Wildcats were not to be denied as they played heads-up ball to win the South Central league title, beating a fighting Terror team by the score of 26 to 23.

Entering the district tournament as league representatives the Wildcats and Terrors eliminated all opponents and finally met for the fourth time during the season. The Terrors won the game by a score of 26 to 16 and advanced to the state meet as first place representatives of the district while Central entered as runners-up.

The Wildcats defeated their first two opponents, Delta and Eaton thus advancing to the semi-finals. They failed to keep up their pace, however, and were defeated by Denver Manual Colorado Springs was successful in all its conflicts and emerged from the meet as state champions.

In the play for third position the Wildcats were beaten by Sterling and thus received fourth place.

Prospects for next season are exceptionally bright. From ten players receiving their letters including Zimdahl, captain; Miller, Lalich, Prough, Radakovich, Jackett, Stubler, O'Roark, Beasley, and Huyser; only Miller, Zimdahl and Huyser will be lost thru graduation.

Central Coaches Have Developed Many Outstanding Teams at Central

Mr. Fred W. Huling came to Central in the spring of 1916 to head the department of physical education. A new plan was inaugurated whereby everyone would have a chance to participate in some sport. The games were arranged between the classes and clubs of the school by an athletic council composed of members of the student body and the faculty.

In 1919 Mr. Lemuel Pitts, then the track coach, revived football whch had been discontinued in 1908, and in 1920 Mr. Pitts and Mr. Huling took the initiative to organize the South Central Interscholastic league and figured in major problems of its progress until the present time.

Mr. V. C. Dougherty became Central's track mentor in 1921 and the following year the Wildcats participated in their first interscholastic track meet. Mr. Dougherty developed the Wildcat teams to the extent that they led the league for five years, 1924-28, reaching the climax in 1926 when they took second in the Boulder meet.

HULING, CARLSON

HERIGSTAD

Baseball was again started in 1916 by Mr. Forsythe after a lapse of several years. The most exciting game of the season was the one in which Central defeated Centennial, 8-7.

Coach Oscar Herigstad, who came to Central as head football coach in 1923, developed three championship teams in football and one in basketball during the five years he was at Central. Coach Herigstad's team of 1924 gained the distinction of turning back the Terrors for the first time on Washburn field at Colorado Springs. Herigstad created new interest in baseball in 1923 after it had begun to lag two years previous, and in 1928 took over the duties of track coach.

Guy Herstrom, who was obtained during the fall of 1929, as football coach, faced the problem of building an entirely new team by developing a team that was the contender for the league title the year following.

Coach John Lloyd, with the able assistance of Laurence Carlson, won the South Central league title in their first year as Central coaches in 1931. Mr. Lyle took over the duties of track coach in 1931 succeeding Coach Friar.

Spring Sports

Spring activities at Central were rounded out with a well-balanced program of the minor sports including track, tennis, and golf.

The tennis squad was picked from a combined group of those participating in an eliminative tournament and the returning lettermen. The Wildcat netsters engaged in several meets including matches against Manitou, Centennial, and Colorado Springs. Lettermen who will be lost thru graduation are Alexander, Baker, Prough, and Harris. This leaves a host of material available for next season.

With an exceptionally large number of candidates out for the golf team the Wildcats had a wealth of prospects from which to pick their team. The Blue and White linkers paired strokes in the Trinidad Invitational meet and in the South Central league meet held in conjunction with the track and tennis matches.

The Central cinder path squad although small because of spring football practice held at the same period presented a well-balanced roster. They entered several meets including the South Central league meet, the Colorado college relays, the divisional tourney, and last the state meet at Boulder.

Girls' Athletic Program

Girl athletes at Central, under the direction of Miss Hazel Read and Miss Jacqueline Ingold participated in intramural volleyball, soccer, tennis, hockey, baseball, and horseshoe pitching tournaments during the 1934-35 season.

Miss Read, who obtained her degree at Colorado State Teachers' college came to Central in 1920 to head the girls' athletic department, now has charge of the sophomore girls and classes in hygienic education. Miss Jacqueline Ingold, graduate of the University of Colorado, instructor of freshman classes, came to Central last fall.

Betty Jean Casebeer, sophomore, won the fall tennis meet when she defeated Margaret Dellaquadri, freshman, in the final match, 6-1, 6-2; others who reached the semi-final round were Alice Ray and Martha Brown.

The senior team humbled the underclass to win the volleyball tourney. Basketball tournament winners were the freshman Go-Getters; sophomore Tarzannas; and junior-senior Varsity Seven. The soccer title went to the juniors, who won one game and tied two.

Margaret Dellaquadri won the horseshoe meet held last fall.

Spring tournaments were held in archery, baseball, tennis and horseshoe pitching.

Miss Ingold instructed the freshmen girls in tumbling, folk dancing, tap-dancing, and rhythmic pattern dancing during the fall semester.

The Central High Times

That Central has an excellent department in journalism is evidenced by the laurels won by the Central High Times.

Publication of the school paper is handled and composed by the two classes in journalism in rotation. The staffs are also rotated so that all members may have an opportunity to hold a position in the editing of the paper.

"All-American" honor rating in 1932 and "All-American Pacemaker" in 1933 and '34 gives an impression of the awards given to the school "organ." It can well be called the mouthpiece of the student body, for news, opinions, and information are the functions of the Central press.

The production of a paper gives the print shop actual experience in the composition and make-up of a paper. Mr. William H. Bennett is in charge of mechanics. This year the Times received third place in a typographical contest sponsored by the National Council of Printing Instructors.

Central's journalists did not confine themselves to local activities, but sent two representatives to the National Scholastic Press Association conference in Kansas City. Five students attended the thirteenth annual conference for school editors and managers in Boulder this year.

An outstanding fact about Central's publication is that James C. Stratton, director, and the journalism students issue to the students its Pacemaker for no subscription, the paper being supported through the school budget.

Publications Provide Record Of Early Activities at Central

"The Central," first publication of the Wildcat student body, was printed in pamphlet form; its contents featured advertisements and literary composition. Little space was devoted to the accomplishments and current events of the school. This magazine was published monthly until 1915 under the title of either "The Central," or "The Cactus."

In 1915 the senior class first delegated a group to compile and publish an annual yearbook. Popular opinion in a school-wide vote chose to designate this as "The Wildcat." The first yearbook was developed and constructed by the Annual staff in conjunction with Miss Lida Bell and Mr. Lemuel Pitts. Spring of each year has seen the advent of "The Wildcat."

A faculty committee took the responsibility as a censure and advisory board through the years up until 1931; after that date Miss Anna Maude Garnett served as the Annual sponsor during the years 1931-33. In 1934 Mr. James C. Stratton was given full charge of the yearbook.

Dating back only ten years "The Central High Times" is a comparatively young newspaper. From 1912 to 1921 the "School Bulletin" was printed, containing both high school and grade school topics. In 1921 the senior English classes began to publish "School Topics" under the sponsorship of Miss Annie K. Keightley. This was continued until the fall of 1924 when the journalism class was inaugurated with Miss Mary C. McNally as its director. During the year 1928 a poll of the school resulted in a new title, "The Central High Times." This gave the students a paper including only high school events. Miss McNally was succeeded by Miss Margaret MacIntyre, who continued in this office until the fall of 1931 when the present journalism instructor, James C. Stratton, undertook direction of publications.

MUSIC

Central Music Department Has Provided Many Colorful Offerings In Past Years

CENTRAL'S music department history is one with many diversified and interesting accounts. The band, one of the largest of its kind in the state, was started in the spring of 1924, by Will H. Samuels, now director of the Pueblo Municipal band. On October 1, 1924, the band was taken over by H. C. Stillman as an extra-curricular activity. It was not until 1926 that the band was placed on the regular curriculum with a budget for equipment. The first band entertainment was presented in 1926.

The band continued to develop until the increase in enrollment made it necessary to organize the second band in 1932, and at the same time to revive the orchestra. The orchestra was inaugurated by Miss Mae Custer before the organization of the band, but was a minor activity for many years.

The band has presented its annual show since 1926. The orchestra was included in the show in 1927, and since that time it has been known as the annual Band and Orchestra show. The music of the band at all assemblies, games, and play presentations has added color to Central's activities since its organization.

Band and Orchestra shows include a variety of entertainment composed of songs and dances along with the instrumental music. Popular dance numbers and songs are featured by the members of the instrumental department.

The first glee club was organized by Mrs. Mabel Mirick, now a member of the schoolboard. Mrs. Mirick had charge of the department until 1913 when J. C. Kendall took over the music department, vocal and instrumental, in the district.

Mr. Kendall directed the first operetta, entitled "Captain Plymouth," in 1914. Students with prominent parts were Anthony Cush, Herbert Kuhn, and Gretchen Fleischer.

Miss Ema Poinson, followed as director of the glee clubs and an operetta entitled "Swedish Nightingale" was given under her supervision. Miss J. Luella Burkhard, who became music director for District Twenty soon after this, has assisted in all of Central's musical programs since that time. In 1917 Miss Lois Fern Hull took charge of the glee clubs, and with a group of sixteen boys and thirty girls, presented two operettas.

1921 saw Miss Mae Custer directing the glee clubs, and it was through her efforts that the Southern Colorado division of glee clubs and bands was organized and conducted at Central each year. In 1924 Miss Achsah Hardin began teaching the unit and remained in charge until 1926, during which time the operetta was revived. The productions, "In the Garden of the Shah," and "Gypsy Rover" were offered.

Mildred Walk followed Miss Hardin in the fall of 1927 and presented "Lelawala," an elaborate Indian operetta by Cadman. Miss Walk directed an operetta entitled "Pickles" in 1929, and in the fall of the same year Mrs. Agnes Frye, present director, took over the vocal section, presenting her first operetta, "The Fire Prince," in 1930.

In 1932 the glee clubs presented "Bells of Capistrano" and in 1933, "Peggy and the Pirate," while in 1934 "The Count and the Co-ed" was given with Esther Johnson, Herbert Young, Jane Watkins, and Austin Kochenberger prominent members of the cast.

This year the glee clubs added to their record of rememberable operettas, "Naughty Fioretta," a Venetian tale of romance. The funds were used, as usual, in buying something of value for the school. The baby grand piano in the auditorium was purchased by the glee clubs of 1932 with the agreement that the following two glee clubs should finish the payments. The operetta this year completed those payments.

Central's Band and Orchestra show was discontinued this year, and a band pay assembly was given instead. The band sponsored a skating party this year to buy new uniforms. This is helpful as the school board otherwise would have had to defray the cost.

Other than the annual programs given by the two departments many attractive assemblies have been sponsored. Quarterly concerts were given by the band for the benefit of the student body. Of special note among the glee club assemblies this year was the replica of the Maxwell House Showboat radio program. The stars of the program were impersonated by glee club members.

As the years have progressed Central's glee club and instrumental department have progressed and have attained their present high standard.

The Girls' Glee Clubs

Music is essential in the lives of the members of Central's glee clubs. The vocal department, under the direction of Mrs. Agnes Frye seeks to give a better understanding of the best music and a deeper appreciation of this means of expressing the soul's feelings.

The glee clubs provide Central with many entertaining programs as well as providing vocal accompaniment for other occasions. The main event of the glee club schedule was its annual operetta, presented by the entire chorus, as the exhibition of the talents and ability of the vocal department as well as to obtain funds for the clubs' expenses.

The Boys' Glee Clubs

The boys' glee clubs are well remembered for their splendid offerings in the 1935 operetta, "Naughty Fioretta." Many assemblies were seasoned by the performances of these musicians. One of the outstanding was the "Show Boat" presentation, in which the combined clubs gave their interpretation of the Maxwell House radio hour.

Folk dancing was again enjoyed by the members this year as last, and many enjoyable evenings were spent by the entire club. Central's singers helped to make this year's Christmas pageant a success. The annual Easter program was also presented by the group.

CAST OF "NAUGHTY FIORETTA"

PRINCIPALS OF THE YEAR'S OPERETTA, "NAUGHTY FIORETTA"

The 1935 Operetta

"Naughty Fioretta," a Venetian tale of poison and potions harmlessly and effectively administered, formed the plot for the operetta presented by the Central glee clubs in the Central auditorium the night of March 3, 1935. The frolicking musical comedy centered around the romance of a beautiful but disobedient daughter and a handsome seafaring hero. Fun and laughter portrayed by the family assassins topped the performance as a huge success.

The funds from this year's operetta completed the payments on a baby grand piano that has been paid for by the last three productions. This year's presentation was instructed by Mrs. Agnes Frye, while the dances were developed by Miss Jeraldine Biele and Miss Norma Rougas. The combined forces of these people with the cast gave Central another successful program.

A SCENE FROM THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Christmas Pageant

The Freshman class again presented to the student body of Central and its patrons the annual Christmas pageant. Presenting the first spectacle in 1923, it has been the custom of the first year students to present the Christmas story. Originating under the direction of Miss Annie K. Keightley and Miss Dorothy Sprengle, the first pageant was presented with Mary Elizabeth Carpenter as the Madonna.

This year's pageant was given in tableaux depicting the birth of Christ and the world's rejoicing. The Freshman choir sang the carols accompanying the story. A prelude consisting of a cantata was first presented by the mixed freshman chorus.

In presenting the pageant, the annunciation was shown first; this was followed by the visit of Mary with Elizabeth; then followed the Shepherds' visit to Bethlehem and the Wise Men offering gifts to the Child. The last scene depicted the whole earth in joy.

Members of the committee in charge kept the impressive atmosphere in telling of the Christmas story.

The Central Boys' Band

Separating the boys from the girls resulted in several weak instrumental sections, but through the efforts of Mr. H. C. Stillman, director of instrumental music, these were strengthened and the quality of the band's presentations improved to such an extent that they attended the Colorado state music meet in Colorado Springs.

Two musical assemblies and the annual band show were given by these musicians during the past year. Giving pep and vim to pep rallies, football and basketball games, as well as special assemblies and parades, was also its duty.

The total enrollment of Central's boys' band is 57. The increase in numbers made it necessary to sponsor a skating party so that funds might be raised to buy some much-needed uniforms.

The Central Girls' Band

Inaugurated as a measure to permit more girls to take a part in an instrumental organization, the girls' band was organized at the beginning of this year. Because of large enrollment of both boys and girls in the single band, new openings to those desiring to enter were often limited.

Lack of funds necessitated abandoning the previously used uniforms of which there were not enough. The uniforms worn by the girls when they played in assembly were made in the school sewing classes. Several of the assemblies presented were in conjunction with the boys' band. Practicing every day during fourth hour under the direction of Mr. H. C. Stillman, the group has reached a level that threatens to equal the boys.

The Central Orchestra

Central's orchestra, although having much difficulty in obtaining enough string instruments, boasted a full symphonic arrangement. The quality of music was slightly lowered because of many first chairs which were vacated by last year's graduates, but through the tireless efforts of Mr. H. C. Stillman, director, the standard was raised.

One of the most important arrangement played by the orchestra was from Romberg's, "Student Prince." Other orchestrations were presented at various times during the year in assembly and band concerts.

A special picked group of players was chosen from the organization to play for the Operetta and at other evening performances.

All in all the prevalent attitude of the students in the orchestra this year has been that of enjoyment in melody rather than in laborious technical concentration.

The Junior Play

Continuing the revival of the annual junior play, the class of '36 presented "The Youngest" by Philip Barry. This was the second of the junior plays to be presented since the revival which broke an interlude of seven years.

"The Youngest" was a play centering around an abused younger child of a wealthy New York family. The arrival of a young lady turns into love at first sight. Through her prompting and planning, the "Cub" asserts himself to show the family finally that he is not so tame as they think he is.

Proceeds were donated to assist the publishing of the 1935 Wildcat.

Richard Beatty, Central graduate of '26 and member of the faculty, and James C. Stratton directed the play.

The Senior Play

"Big Hearted Herbert" was chosen this year for the senior play and is from the pen of Anna Steese Richardson and Sophie Kerr. Try-outs were given, and the cast was chosen for abilities in voice and action.

The story centers around grouchy Herbert Kalness, who does not believe that his son should attend college or his daughter should marry at an early age. He tells his son, Junior, that he is to go into his father's factory and work up from the bottom. His daughter, Alice, is to marry Andrew Goodrich, a young lawyer. Andrew's folks arrive for a dinner party, and Herbert discovers that she is engaged. He embarrasses the family by saying that she can't marry young Goodrich. When the family quarrels, the guests leave.

In the last act the family turn the tables on Herbert and he finally comes to terms. The play is most humorous from the very beginning.

Drama Was Brought to Central When Seniors Offered First Class Play

First records of any drama in Central begin in 1906, when the senior class presented "Esmeralda," a three-act play. The junior play was begun in 1907, when the class presented "His Excellency, The Governor" in May. In the same year the senior play was entitled "Lady of Lyons."

Nineteen hundred and eight marks the beginning of the presentation of a play by the January class as well as the regular senior play. These early plays were all given at the old Grand Opera house, on Fourth and Main, where the Colorado building now stands. This, of course, was before the high school auditorium was built.

Among the first directors the names of Miss Iva Maude Dunn and Miss Annie K. Keightley are found. Miss Dorothy Sprengle is the most recent director.

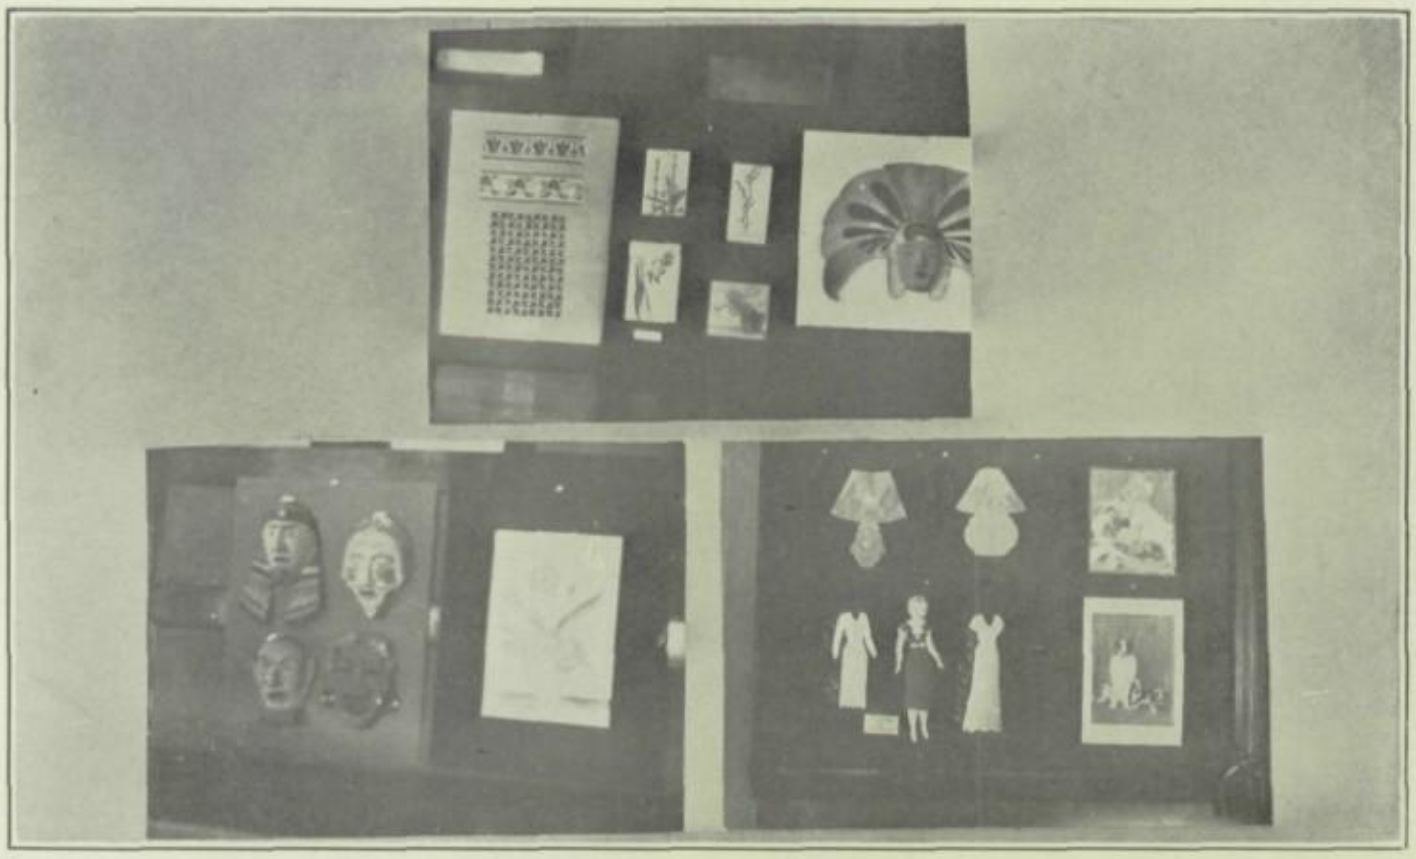
The junior play at Central is also one of the oldest class activities. Starting in 1907, it has been continued since except for a slight interval when economic conditions brought about the end of the proms which it financed. This play has always brought to light much good material for the more important senior play. Try-outs have been necessary in this play as well in the senior play to determine the cast.

The revival of the junior play by James C. Stratton was marked by the presentation of "Kempy" for the benefit of the annual. It was continued this year for the same purpose and the class presented Philip Barry's "The Youngest" under the direction of Mr. Richard Beatty, and Mr. Stratton.

The annual Vodevil is one of Central's traditional performances, having been started in 1918. It has usually consisted of a variety of songs, dances, and dramatic numbers. It is one of the most unique of Central's presentations. For a few years it was discontinued as was the junior play. This year the student council in an effort to revive school programs, brought the Vodevil back to Central.

Other dramatic diversion is furnished at intervals by one-act plays staged by either societies or members of the dramatics classes. Originality in stage production is furnished by the skits offered throughout the year at the various pay and free assemblies given.

ART



The Central
Fine Arts Department

The 1935 "Wildcat" is ample evidence of the skill and ability of those taking art in Central's classes under Miss Joysa Gaines.

Six classes are open to the student. Four of these are in beginning and two are in advanced.

In the beginning classes the student learns the principles of balance, design, and color. All girls are required to take a course in good taste in dress and home decoration.

Poster work for programs and stage decorations for various productions throughout the year are the duties of the advanced pupils. The freshmen Christmas pageant, the junior and senior plays, and the operetta have been aided in their authenticity and realistic atmosphere by the properties made in the art department.

Central students benefit by the work of this department. Since the aim of this department is to teach the application of artistic principles in every day life, it is suitable that each student apply these rules while in school. Work in fine arts covers a variety of crafts—linoleum cuts, clay modeling, water coloring, design in black and white, design masks. Students are grounded in fundamentals.

The 1935 Inter-Society Debates

Under the sponsorship of Mr. D. K. Dunton, the Ciceronean debating society defeated the Olympic debating society, sponsored by Mr. Lemuel Pitts, in 1913, to inaugurate the first Inter-society debate. This contest began the annual controversy that lasted until 1921 when the Forum entered. The Agora entered in 1930 to make the contest a four cornered affair.

This debate was continued this year with the subject as stated: Resolved, That the United States should adopt an old age pension plan based on payments from the Federal Government, employers, and employees. (Constitution allowing.)

The championship Olympic team boasted Gene Vance, Robert Askew, Neil Martin, and Harold Miller. The Forum team included James Fennell, Oscar Massey, Don Baker, and Dale Stuart. The Agora debaters were Meredith Price, Harold Rush, Homer Edson, and Norton Hutchison. The Ciceroneans were Edwin Anderson, William Shontz, Frank Black, and Ray Smelich.

In the preliminaries the Forum defeated the Agora while the Olympics took the decision from the Ciceronean. In the finals the Olympic defeated the Forum to take the championship for the second consecutive year.

The 1935 Inter-Scholastic Debates

Coached by Mr. Ray Redmond, now principal of Junior high school, the first Inter-scholastic triangular debate team was organized in 1923. The affirmative team debated at Colorado Springs, and the negative team debated at Rocky Ford. Since this time Central has had a debate team almost every year. The squads have usually been represented in the Southern Colorado debate tournament since its organization in 1929.

This year the debate team from Central won the Sixth annual Southern Colorado debate tourney by defeating Centennial high school, five-year champion. In this tournament the team entered the finals and defeated Rocky Ford. Centennial defeated Central, and Rocky Ford defeated Centennial, making it a three way tie for the championship. The teams were judged according to percentage, and the district cup was awarded to Central.

Central debaters who attended the state meet in Denver, were defeated in the eliminations.

In their practice debates Central debaters defeated Trinidad and La Junta, but lost to Rocky Ford.

A girls' debate between Central and Centennial, with matches being held at both schools, resulted in two losses by the Central team. In these debates the respective affirmative teams traveled to meet the negative.

The 1935 Essay-Oration Contest

The Annual Corwin Oration Contest was held in 1903 and in 1904 the Keating Essay contest was begun. The two creative contests were combined and have been known since as the annual Essay and Oration contest. This year marks the twenty-first year of the contest.

Since Dr. Corwin's death in 1931, the fund left especially by him has been used by Dr. Senger to award the medal to the winner. This year the competition was held on March 12. The essay winner was Marian Broskey, whose essay was entitled "Why Think?" Other essayists were Barbara Louise Billington on "Peace That Passeth Understanding"; "Thanksgiving" by Marie Balsiger, and "Life" by Anna Margaret Chance.

"Youth Faces the Future" was the topic of the winning oration by Don Baker. Other orators and subjects were, "Dealers in Death," by Gene Vance; "International Control of Munitions" by Willis Penaluna; and "Education for a New Age" by James Fennell, and "Turn Thine Eyes" by Robert Kindred.

The annual D. A. R. prize was won this year by Robert Langdon. The declamation contest introduced by the student council for societies, was won by Harold Miller, and the reading contest by Harriet Davisson.

Annual Staff Patrons

These patrons of the 1935 Wildcat have made it possible for a better annual publication. We, the annual staff, wish to extend them our most sincere thanks for their aid and patronage. We suggest that the student body voice their appreciation in person.
